Facet5 Profile

Facet5 is a personality questionnaire specifically designed by Psychologists for use by management in organisations. It produces a comprehensive multi part report on how an individual behaves at work: actual behaviour, how to best manage, what the work strengths are likely to be, and where individual work preferences might lie.

Facet5 model of behaviour

Facet5 personality profile is based on research done at Edinburgh University, in the 1980's, using a 'Big5' model of personality. The 'Big5' model is generally considered by psychologists to be the best way of understanding behaviour. The Facet5 model uses the following 5 behavioural dimensions:

- Will: the degree to which an individual is determined, assertive and independent
- Energy: the degree to which an individual is enthusiastic, sociable and involved
- Affection: the degree to which an individual is open, sincere, warm and generous
- Control: the degree to which an individual is structured, orderly and self-disciplined
- Emotionality: interacts with the other Facet5 factors and affects stress tolerance, confidence and emotional state

Facet5 process

Facet5 personality profile is delivered from an online questionnaire. Available in over 30 different languages, with a range of corresponding norm groups, the results can be downloaded immediately upon completion.

The questionnaire consists of 106 questions and takes approximately 15-20 minutes to complete. The process is entirely web-based for data collection and analysis all over the world.

Accreditation

Facet5 requires individuals who wish to debrief or interpret Facet5 data to complete a 2 day accreditation programme. With a focus on practical application in the work place it is an interactive face to face learning programme. Extensive support and online learning materials mean new practitioners can apply their learning quickly back on the job. For further information on accreditation contact your local partner.
